World Water Day 2020

Water and Climate Change

Since 1993, the United Nation has set 22 March as the World Water Day for every year, with the aim to call people's awareness of water conservation and protection of water resources. Up to date, there are 2.2 billion people still lack access to safe drinking water. This year's theme is 'Water and Climate Change', highlights the unprecedented challenge for humans. Global water resources are threatened by climate change and action in combating is urgently required. If everyone ignores, the victims will be US.

Can you imagine our days WITHOUT water?

Deforestation

Increase in Population

Urbanisation

Industrialisation

Glacial Melting

According to UN Water, everyone has a role to play in fighting climate change and protecting our water resources. Start from today, you can take the following steps* in your daily life to make a difference.

Cherish Water Fun Zone

Let's explore the creative water saving device designs in the world

Timing Tap

Designer : Chacko T Kalacherry

This tap features an LED display to remind users the time and the amount of water they have been used.

'Poor Little Fish' basin

Designer : Yan Lu

The basin consists of a traditional fish bowl. While using water, users will find the water level in the bowl gradually falls and resumes the original water level once the tap is off. It is hoped to raise the awareness of water consumption.

Twist Tap

Designer: Harvey Bewley

Have you ever thought you need to 'workout' before using water ? This tap is controlled by an aerator. You have to twist more for more water. Users have to think twice before getting water.

Changing Color Showerhead

Brand: HYDRAO

The built-in LED light on the showerhead changes colors to notify users if they use too much water. With the assistance of the mobile app, users can also review the amount of water used.

Washing Machine-toilet

Designer : Sevin Coskun

A washing machine is fixed on the top of the toilet. After washing clothes, the used water can flush your toilet. It saves water as well as space.

No Poo Poo Toilet

Inventor : Researchers at Penn State University

In order to remove the residue on the toilet bowl, people will flush more and so to increase the flushing water consumption. Researchers at Penn State University developed LESS coating to repel bacteria and poo poo in the toilet bowl, reduce the amount of water for flushing and cleaning.
