

Putting Words into Action - To Reduce Pollution and to Cherish Water

Yan Chai Hospital Law Chan Chor Si Primary School (YCHLCCS), which has always been supporting the promotion of the environmental protection, was the Overall Champion of "Cherish Water Campus" Integrated Education Programme (IEP) for the 2016/17 school year. YCHLCCS Principal, Ms. Chan Ka Pik pointed out that the school emphasises students' personality-development, and thus they placed high priority on the civic education, especially environmental protection. "We not only want to raise students' environmental awareness, but also hope that they can put it into practice in their daily lives."

Ms. Chan indicated that the school echoed the "Evolving into a Green NGO" organized by its School Sponsoring Body, the Board of Directors of Yan Chai Hospital (YCH), and the IEP launched by Water Supplies Department (WSD) could provide them myriads of information and activities relating to water conservation. "The IEP offers us informative materials and comprehensive support. There are wide-ranging activities divided into different phases, and there is also an award mechanism. These can help reduce the time teachers spend on lesson planning or activity preparation." She also said that the IEP clearly tied in with the implementation of waste reduction policy in school. "Reducing water use should start from pollution reduction. Hence, all of us have lunch together in canteen for centralized cleaning. We also teach junior students how to use the toilets properly in order to keep toilets less dirty and thereby cut down water use for cleaning."

Mr. Leung Hoi Kin, the teacher in charge of the IEP, said that students had been increasingly concerned about water usage. "Students collect the water meter readings every day in groups and display the analyzed data on the TV in Canteen, so as to let other students know more about the school water usage. In addition, we have posted water saving slogans in students' toilets to remind them to cherish water."

From various activities in the IEP, Mr. Leung considered that the School Water Audit fits the cross-curricular education trend most. "STEM education, which aims to integrate cross-subject knowledge has gained popularity nowadays. During the audit, students have to measure the volume of toilet cisterns and flow rates of water taps and to make water saving suggestions. They can be trained to make use of their interdisciplinary knowledge.”

Representatives of YCHLCCS and Mr. Jason Leung Wai Kwong, the Chief Executive Officer of YCH, shared their water saving experiences at the ceremony.

Water efficient devices have been installed in most water use facilities on campus since 2013. The photo shows the certificate issued by WSD.

Students consider that using the IEP teaching kit in classes is more interesting.

Mr. Leung Hoi Kin said that there is a significant reduction in water consumption compared with the same period of last year.

Smart tips for water conservation: HOME WATER AUDIT

1. Son, why do you look so nervous? You will bump into us if you rush!
2. Call me "Inspector" please! I wanna find out if there's any water wastage in our home!
Wow, I see! How's your result then?
3. I found that we've been using the Grade 4 water tap under the Water Efficiency Labelling Scheme in the kitchen! But no worries, you won't see it from tomorrow!
4. Oh! What's it?
It's to install the "flow controller"! Water consumption will then be reduced when it's fitted with the tap, so water could be saved as well!
It's very easy to install* too! We can even do it ourselves!
5. How come I, the "Cherish Water Expert" don't know this water saving method!? I should start learning more from you, Dave!
No problem! Let's join hands together to find out the "Water Wasters"!
6. Great! Let's GO!!
Err...it's already 10pm...
Get to the bed NOW!
